Superbas and Cardinals Begin Their Last Series of Season at Washington Park.

(Special to The Evening World.)

WASHINGTON PARK, BROOKLYN, Sept. 6.—That fast collection of young ball tossers from St. Louis, headed by their manager, Patsy Donovan, came to these grounds this afternoon to meet Ned Hanlon's trolley-doggers in the first game of the last series they will play here this season.

The Cardinals are playing better ball at the present time than any team in the big league, and as they are anxious to improve their position in the race the indications are that they will make Hanlon's men play as they never did before to win a single game.

The day was ideal for the game and the rosters turned out in larger numbers than they have for the last three days. Hanlon selected Jimmy Hughes to do the twirling for his team, while Donovan depended on lanky Yerkes to beat the Superbas.

First Innings.
Farrell ambled to first on four wild balls. Nichols drove a low line fly straight into Donovan's hands. A pretty double play then resulted. Barclay soaked a hot grounder from Yerkes, who threw him out at first and on Farrell's quick return the ball to Irwin J. Farrell was caught trying to reach third on the out. No runs.

Sheppard waited patiently and was awarded a free pass to first. Dolan laced the ball to left for a bag, advancing Sheppard to second. A wild pitch advanced both runners a base. Dolan also walked, filling the bases. Flood fled out to Donovan, Sheppard scoring and advancing the other runners a base. Irwin was thrown out at first by Kruger. Dolan crossing the plate, C. Farrell then contributed a single to left, scoring Sheppard and Dolan. Irwin's fly went to Calhoun. Two runs.

Second Innings.
P. Donovan's hot grounder was stopped by Hughes and fielded to first ahead of Patsy. Kruger was only able to send up a high skyscraper which Dolan smothered. Barclay threw the ball to short right for a crack and moved up to second on Calhoun's free pass to first. Ryan was called out on strikes. No runs.

Hughes was an easy out on his high fly, while Dolan's fly to center was made his first safe hit since he joined the team, a single to right. Sheppard drove the ball to center, the only board for two bases, sending Latimer to third. Dolan walked, filling the bases. Sheppard flied to Ryan. Flood's grounder to J. Farrell forced Dolan at second. No runs.

Third Innings.
Pearson banged a grounder to Flood and perished at first. Sheppard made a sensational running catch. Farrell's low line fly to short right. Nichols sent his team to the field by soaking a fair grounder to Flood. No runs.

Fourth Innings.
Barclay singled to center. Hughes then made a clever catch of P. Donovan's fly, and by a quick throw to C. Farrell doubled up Barclay at first. Kruger's foul fly to C. Farrell. No runs.

Latimer drove a fly to P. Donovan. Sheppard slapped the ball to right and reeled at first. Dolan singled to left and on Barclay's tumble reached third and Dolan second. Dolan flied to P. Donovan. Flood doubled to right, scoring Sheppard and Dolan. Irwin's fly went to Calhoun. Two runs.

Fifth Innings.
Brashear sent a bouncer to Dolan and was a victim at first. Calhoun was retired by Sheppard. The batter making a remarkable running catch. Sheppard also gathered in Barclay's high one. C. Farrell walked. B. Donovan pushed a bouncer to Calhoun, which resulted in Kruger's retirement at first. Sheppard flied to Ryan. Flood's fly was taken by Barclay. On the latter's throw to Kruger B. Donovan was retired. No runs.

Sixth Innings.
Pearson went out. Dolan to Charles Farrell. J. Farrell walked. Nichols sent a fly to Sheppard. The batter making a remarkable running catch. Sheppard also gathered in Barclay's high one. C. Farrell walked. B. Donovan pushed a bouncer to Calhoun, which resulted in Kruger's retirement at first. Sheppard flied to Ryan. Flood's fly was taken by Barclay. On the latter's throw to Kruger B. Donovan was retired. No runs.

Seventh Innings.
P. Donovan was thrown out by Flood. Kruger singled to the infield. Brashear flied to Sheppard. The batter making a remarkable running catch. Sheppard also gathered in Barclay's high one. C. Farrell walked. B. Donovan pushed a bouncer to Calhoun, which resulted in Kruger's retirement at first. Sheppard flied to Ryan. Flood's fly was taken by Barclay. On the latter's throw to Kruger B. Donovan was retired. No runs.

Terry Is Putting in Most of His Time at Boxing, Believing Practice with Gloves Most Beneficial.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CINCINNATI, O., CAMP M'GOVERN, Sept. 6.—"Well, I put in a hard day's work," said Terry to a reporter after he finished his indoor work yesterday. "I am just getting to feel right. I like plenty of boxing, and I believe that is better than all the routine work put together. Of course, road work is also necessary, but there is no pleasure attached to these long runs in the morning over dusty roads. Road work is a good thing for the wind, and a lot of those old-timers would have lasted longer had they paid more attention to this kind of work."

Tommy Ryan, Frank Erno, Gans and a lot more of those fellows don't care for any road work. "I boxed six rounds, three with Eddie Cain and three with Art Simms, and I must say I had them coming to me. Simms landed a number of times on my nose with his left, but they did not hurt me a bit."

Simms would be waiting for him and Terry would be on a little before he argued, and did not appear to be in the usual good spirits. After boxing for ten minutes, which completed an hour's solid work.

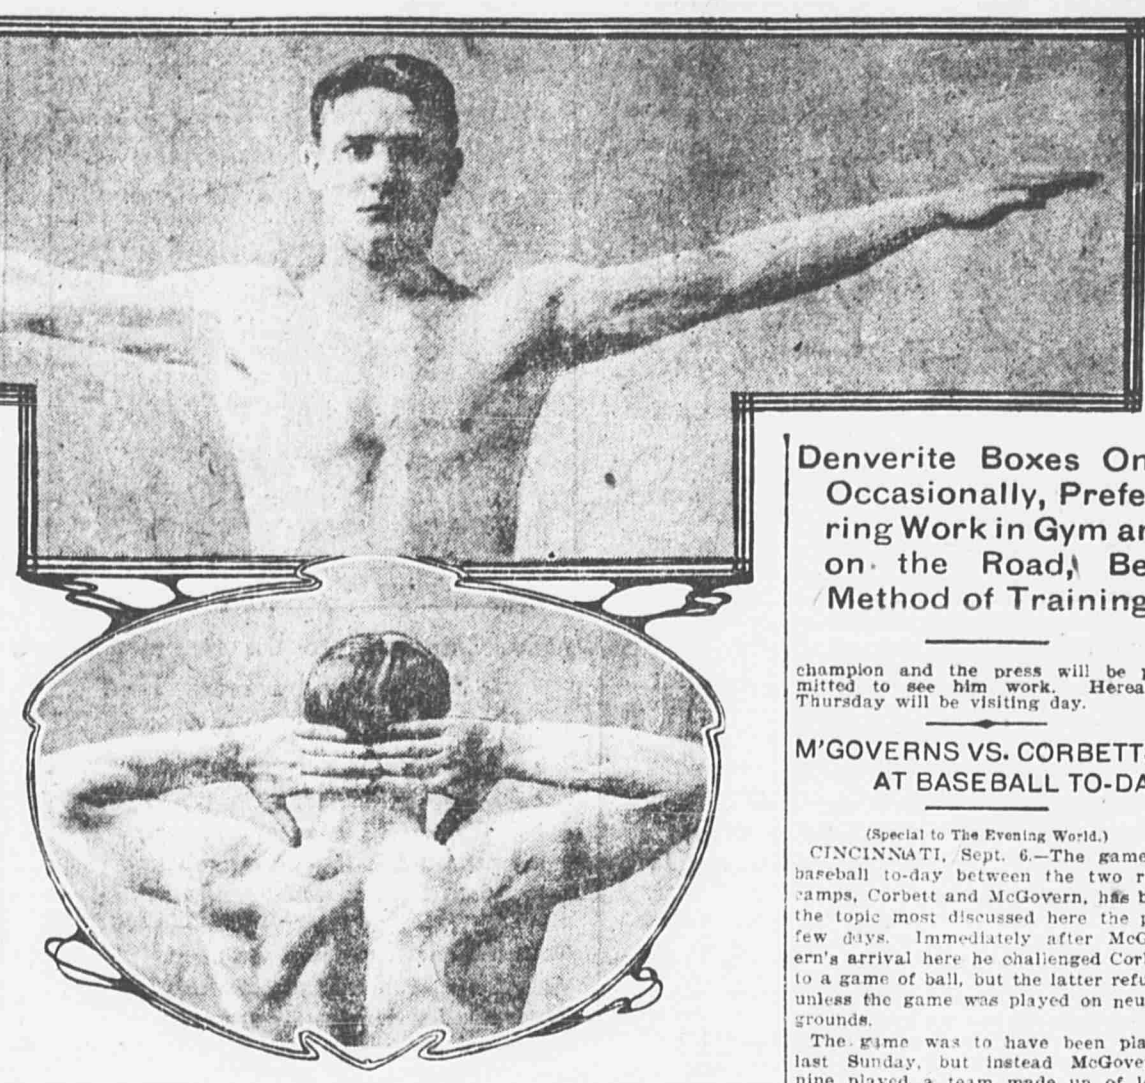

To-day and to-morrow McGovern will play ball and will not do any more of his indoor work. From then on it is intended to "cut out" ball games and get down to work.

Corbett's correct weight is carefully guarded. While little change is noted in his weight his muscles are getting hard, and before many days pass they will stand out like wire. The champion has a clear skin and a healthier fighter one would not want to see.

"I did a lot of work to-day," said Corbett, "though I do not feel as tired as I was Thursday. I'm getting to feel better every day. The time of battle is not very far off now. I am not worrying about anything, just simply taking things as they come. The report that McGovern will be a much better man has not kept me awake these nights. I can win easily, and I don't care if I do get a beating. I will wait my chance, and if I get my punch over the jig will be up. I have devised no plans or new blows to whip McGovern. All that I need is the punch, and I am sure I possess this head-winner."

Corbett was out on the road yesterday morning as usual, accompanied by Willie Mack. The weather was so cool that the champion had to put on an extra sweater to prevent catching a cold.

(Special to The Evening World.)

CINCINNATI, Sept. 6.—The game of baseball to-day between the two rival camps, Corbett and McGovern, has been the topic most discussed here the past few days. Immediately after McGovern's arrival here he challenged Corbett to a game of ball, but the latter refused unless the game was played on neutral ground.

The game was to have been played last Sunday, but instead McGovern's nine played a team made up of local pugilists. Terry's nine was beaten after a hard-fought game. Being a little sore over the defeat, McGovern played the same team Thursday and was beaten again. The last defeat was due to a round had playing. McGovern stated that he was not out to win the game, but simply for the exercise it gave.

Young Corbett boasts of a strong team, and will cover second base himself. Trainer Tuttle will not be in the game. Willie Mack will play center field and Fitzgerald will cover right field. Terry will also play second on his team, and Simms, Mayhew and Cain will be in the game. The contest will be in the afternoon, and a large crowd is expected. A number of box seats have already been reserved by friends of the two pugilists. Manager Bob Gray, of the Louisville Athletic Club, will be here to attend the game and will remain here Sunday to see Sam Harris. Buck Ewing will umpire.

The Giants' foes this afternoon, and even though the New Yorkers are a bit crippled, they should, as they have done all season put up a great game against the Pirates. Jack O'Neill will catch, for Frank Rowenman will not be able to work for a week at least. A foul tip caught him on the instep of his right foot in the ninth inning. He played and he has swollen so much that the big fellow cannot put on a shoe. It is "Matty's" day to pitch, too.

"Pop" Foster Hitting Hard.
Another ex-Giant is making a great showing since he left the local team. The player referred to is "Pop" Foster, who at present leads the Eastern League with home runs, he having smashed out eleven so far this season.

Hickman's Batting Record.
Charles Hickman, who was one of the hardest hitters on the New York team last season, is keeping up his great stickwork this season. Since he joined the club he has been pounding the ball for keeps. In his last five games Hickman has made twelve hits for a total of twenty bases.

Where League's Rivals May Play.
The latest announcement in regard to the location of the grounds of the American League team in this city next season is to the effect that they will be about two minutes ride beyond Polo Grounds. The American League officials intend to get as close to the Polo Grounds as they possibly can.

School Children See Clubs in West.
Out in the West the clubs instead of allowing one day each week for women to witness ball games free of charge give the privilege to school children, who patronize the game in thousands.

Stanton Good Hitting Pitcher.
Frank Kitson, the Brooklyn twirler, is a valuable player. Besides being able to pitch he can hit the ball for fair. Kitson is a heavy hitter for a pitcher, and in case he ever happens to lose the use of his pitching wing he can get a job as an outfielder.

See Signs Youngsters.
Frank Selee, manager of the Chicago Club, was so much impressed with the great pitching of both youngsters and Hardy against the Brooklyn team that he will not in getting time to sign contracts for next season. Both lads will surely develop into first-class pitchers next year.

Donovan's in Brooklyn.
Patsy Donovan's St. Louis team, which is playing better ball at present than any other team in the League, will tackle Ned Hanlon's Superbas at Washington Park this afternoon. This series will be the last the Cardinals will play the Trolley Dodgers this year. The teams are playing great ball at present, and the prospect is that all the games will be bitterly contested.

Hughes will do the pitching for the Brooklyn, while either Yerkes or Mike O'Neill will do likewise for the Cardinals.

Big Gallery Follows Final Match in Big Golf Tournament at Deal Links.

(Special to The Evening World.)

DEAL LINKS, N. J., Sept. 6.—Walter J. Travis was again the leading attraction to-day in the Invitation Tournament of the Deal Golf Club, and a very large gallery followed his thirty-six hole match over the course with George T. Brokaw, the young Princeton golfer. The final lists for the four other cups offered were as follows:

Second Cup—Pier A. Prael, Monmouth Beach, vs. J. G. Jackson, Columbia.

Young Cup—H. Kennedy Hill, Merion Cricket, and Arthur McClure, St. Andrews.
